Presenters

Zohra Benotmane

Currently the deputy headteacher and gifted and talented coordinator at Challenge Award-accredited Snowfields Primary School, Zohra Benotmane has taught in the London Borough of Southwark for over 15 years. Her areas of interest include approaches to developing critical thinking, the use of questioning to refine understanding and explore complex concepts, and the use of technology to enrich learning. She is also passionate about Philosophy for Children (P4C) and has completed a Level 2 Sapere course in this field.

Becky Catlin

English and drama teacher Becky Catlin is the gifted and talented coordinator at Challenge Award-accredited Sir Christopher Hatton Academy. She trained through the Teach First programme, following a previous career as a theatre director and creative learning artist for theatres across the UK. Becky loves working with young people, creating environments that challenge them constructively and in which they can thrive. Her specialisms include effective questioning techniques, transition from primary to secondary, and mentoring for independence and metacognition.
